Gentlemen,

On behalf of the 26,000 members of the Federal Law Enforcement Officers Association (FLEOA), I am submitting the following information in consideration of attaining membership in ICPRA.

FLEOA, formed in 1977, is the largest, nonprofit, nonpartisan professional association in the U.S. representing federal law enforcement officers. We have members that come from over 65 different law enforcement agencies across the U.S., and we have 75 chapters, including international representation. Additionally, we have ten nationally elected Board of Directors, and an additional six appointed national officers.

FLEOA provides its membership with 24/7 access to attorneys for legal representation. On the political front, FLEOA is actively engaged in the legislative arena in Washington, DC, and serves as the legislative voice for federal law enforcement officers. We are the lead advocate on issues that impact our pay and benefits, as well as all issues that may impact the law enforcement community. FLEOA National Officers also meet regularly with cabinet officials and agency directors on behalf of its membership.

On the chapter front, FLEOA engages in, and hosts, charitable events. We are also the lead law enforcement group that supports educational events associated National Missing Children's Day each year. Our chapters also host a variety of social activities, as well as support the national office's legislative agenda.

FLEOA also hosts a national awards program, and recognizes its members for heroism and bravery, as well as investigative achievement. We believe there is strength in numbers, and it is our inherent responsibility to take care of our own.

I appreciate your consideration in evaluating our suitability for membership in ICPRA. Our membership has great respect for all our brothers and sisters in the international law enforcement community. Irrespective of where we come from, we all face the same challenges that confront law enforcement officers across the world.

I look forward to your response and wish you all the best in your future endeavors.

Respectfully submitted,

J. Adler
